SPRING COMMENCEMENT 1975

UNIVERSITY OF NEW ORLEANS

Saturday, May 17, 1975
University of New Orleans
Health and Physical Education Center

A Member of the Louisiana State University System

In order to avoid limiting attendance, two Commencement convocations are being scheduled on the same day.

The first Ceremony, which will begin at 10:30 a.m., will include graduates of the:

College of Education

School of Engineering

College of Sciences

The second Commencement will begin at 3:00 p.m. Participants will include graduates of the:

College of Business Administration

College of Liberal Arts

Those receiving Graduate Degrees will participate in the Commencement ceremony according to their major field.

COMMENCEMENT CEREMONIES have a long history as the most formal and ritualistic part of the academic year. Universities as we know them began in Europe during the Middle Ages, and much of the costume and formality of the commencement reflects these distant days.

Like the military of medieval times, with their pages, squires and knights, the academic world has long had three basic grades of dignity and achievement. These are undergraduates, bachelors, and masters (or doctors). The difference between masters and doctors is comparatively recent; both imply the right to teach.

Academic dress in the United States is based on that worn in England in late medieval and early renaissance times and retained at Oxford and Cambridge with few changes since. However, here in America a fairly standardized heraldry or color code has been agreed upon.

As might be expected, doctors, who outrank the rest, turn out to be the most colorful people in any academic procession. The color in the master's costume is restricted to the hood, worn around the neck and down the back. This is edged with velvet of a color which indicates the degree he has received, and lined with silk of the colors of the degree granting institution. Thus the master's hood from the University of New Orleans is black, lined in silver and blue and edged in white velvet for Arts, light blue for Education, golden yellow for Science, olive drab for Business Administration, and orange for Engineering.

Doctors have a larger and more open hood, and in addition have black or colored velvet on the sleeves and front of the gown itself. Thus, a Doctor of Philosophy will have a dark blue velvet-edged gown and hood, and a gold tassel on his mortar-board cap. In recent years, some universities have broken away from the scheme and allowed their doctors to wear brighter, more original costumes; for instance Yale's blue with black trim and Harvard's crimson and black. Part of the reason for distinctive costume in earlier times was that proper deference could more readily be paid to dignitaries by the remainder of the academic community.

The University of New Orleans, then LSUNO, held its first commencement in a tent erected near the Liberal Arts Building. On that day, some four years after the University opened, 115 bachelor's degrees were conferred. For the next six years the University held its commencement at the Municipal Auditorium. In 1969 the commencement returned to the campus, being held in the newly constructed Health and Physical Education Center, the first suitable facility to accommodate so large a gathering. A winter commencement was added in 1970 to accommodate the increasing number of graduates of Louisiana's second largest institution of higher education and in 1972 the first summer commencement was held.

The 1974 spring commencement was the first under the banner of the University of New Orleans. The name was officially changed February 2, 1974, by the LSU System Board of Supervisors. In order to avoid limiting attendance, two Commencements in one day were scheduled for the first time December 20, 1974.

UNO awarded its first master's degrees to six graduate students in 1965 and its first Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1968. To date, 8,928 bachelor's degrees, 1,460 master's degrees, and 75 doctoral degrees have been awarded by UNO.

Students whose names are marked with an asterisk (*) have been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, one of the top honorary fraternities in the nation, recognizing outstanding performance in overall college work.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF SCIENCE DEGREE

It is especially fitting that the University of New Orleans confer its first honorary degree on Dr. Melvin S. Newman, since Dr. Newman spent much of his early life in New Orleans, graduating from Newman School in 1924.

Melvin S. Newman is Regents Professor of Chemistry at The Ohio State University. He is a leading teacher and researcher in organic chemistry, being especially well known in the field of stereochemistry.

Among Dr. Newman's previous awards are: election to the National Academy of Sciences, the American Chemical Society's Creative Research in Organic Chemistry award, the Morley Medal of the Cleveland Section of the American Chemistry Society, the Wilbur Cross Medal from Yale University, and the Society of Organic Chemical Manufacturers' Association Medal for Creative Research.

Dr. Newman received his bachelor's degree, Magna Cum Laude, from Yale and three years later earned his Ph.D. from Yale. He has been on the faculty at The Ohio State University since 1936. In addition to his renown as a researcher, Dr. Newman has directed the study of over 100 Ph.D. candidates, 30 Masters of Science and 70 post doctoral students. He continues to demonstrate a deep interest in undergraduate teaching as well.

Dr. Newman's degree will be conferred at the 10:30 a.m. ceremony.
